65 minutes, followed by discussion with author/performer, Elliott Cherry and professionals in the fields of caregiving, end-of-life and loss.

Your thoughts, feelings and stories will be most welcome.

- How will I care for my loved one who is dying? Who will be present, what will we feel?
- How will our conversations about end-of-life relate to what actually transpires?
- How will we navigate loss, life and meaning?

We invite you into a most intimate journey as Elliott cares for Chris, his husband of sixteen years, who, in 2007, is dying at home of pancreatic cancer. With A Finished Heart, Elliott performs the tender conversations they shared, with story, poetry and a musical score.

A Finished Heart opens rich space for exploring questions, passions, struggles and transformation. It is a celebration of deep feeling and expression. In the words of one audience member, the piece inspires hearts "to give and receive love in ways unimagined." A Finished Heart has been performed thirty-six times and presented in five states. Elliott is working to bring his work to diverse audiences throughout the country and beyond. For more information, please visit afinishedheart.com.

This event is made possible by a grant from North Portland Neighborhood Services and presented by Hollywood Senior Center.

"Powerful, rich and raw – absolutely mesmerizing from start to finish" – Susan Kocen, Q Center
